FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JANUARY 11, 2018

IRIS awarded ISO 27001 certification for Information Security

India's leading GST Suvidha Provider (GSP), IRIS Business Services Limited (IRIS) today announced that it has been awarded the ISO 27001 for information security.

In a statement released here today, the company announced that after a thorough and rigorous audit of its IRISGST division, the global accreditation agency and business standards company, BSI awarded the certification to IRIS for software development and maintenance as well as associated support services.

Expressing satisfaction with the development, Company CEO, S Swaminathan said, "At a time when there is so much discussion centering around data security, this certification by a reputed third party will reassure our clients of our commitment to information security while giving them the comfort that our internal processes are robust."

"To put it simply, our claim to our clients that we have the processes to keep their confidential information safe has now been validated by a third party," added Gautam Mahanti who heads the GST business at IRIS.

Navi Mumbai head quartered IRIS is also a global leader in XBRL software with one or more of its products in use in some 22 countries across 4 continents.

From the time it was set up in 1901, the BSI Group, the successor to the British Standards Institution (BSI) are recognized as shaping many of the most used and implemented standards worldwide that have been adopted by over a million organizations all over the world.
